

WALL STREET BECOMES OPTIMISTIC OVER NIGHT

Market Shows Quick Brace on Favorable Intimations From Bank of England.

PRICES TAKE ON FIRMNESS
Stockbrokers Who Have Been Persuaded With Requests for More Margin Assume Independent Tone. Steady Stream of Capital.

BY BROADWAY WALL.
New York, October 27.—Wall Street braced up to-day. Sentiment became more optimistic overnight. Intimations from London that the Bank of England would induce the closing prices of July 31 at the basis for the "brokers" market were received by the announcement from Washington that national banks here should recognize these prices, with a suitable margin, until Congress returns. The market in New York immediately became firmer and stockbrokers who had been pestered with requests for additional margin assumed an independent tone. This moratorium of assets is quite in keeping with the attitude of the Bank of England.

It is suggested by some firms that loans might stand at a reduced rate, with a privilege of withdrawing stocks at the old values and substituting new collateral at the current market value.

At the case stands now, stocks that pay dividends at a rate of 3 percent, while securities that are non-dividend-paying are quoted at 3 1/2 percent. The committee is maintaining down prices of stocks "ex-dividend" the amount of the dividend, was not officially at the last sale of July 31. Should this condition continue long enough the holders of dividend-paying stocks will realize as quotations sink to the level of non-dividend-paying, a position obviously inconsistent with the attitude of the Bank of England.

J. T. McCormack Stumbled Over Projecting Root—Claims City Is Liable.

ATTEMPTS TO HOLD UP MILKMAN

Revival Services in Churches on Southside Are Attracting Large Attendance—Verdict for Plaintiff in Suit of Kratz Against Kolner.

What promises to be that of J. T. McCormack against the city of Richmond, which will be tried to-day in Hustings Court, Part I, is a suit for $10,000 damages for the fall of the plaintiff sustained when he fell over an obstruction in the street.

According to the declaration, McCormack was walking alone, Cary Street, near Lombardy, when he struck his foot against a large root projecting from the sidewalk. He was badly hurt. He was thrown violently on his face, his head and back were hurt. Attorney T. Gray Haddon and L. O. Wendenburg represent the plaintiff, while City Attorney Anderson, Assistant City Attorney, will appear for the city.
